

Canadian Pacific Women's Open

Thursday, August 25, 2022

Ottawa, Ontario, Canada

The Ottawa Hunt and Golf Club

Narin An

Quick Quotes

In general today, both my shots and putter were working well just the way I was feeling, so I think I was able card a bogey-free round today.

Recently, when things weren't going the way I wanted on par 5s, I've been bogeying a lot. But today, both my shot-making and putter were working well, so I was able to put up a good result.

Both the front nine and the back nine were pretty similar. Neither felt particularly easy, but I'm thankful I was able to put up a good play today.

The roughs here are very long, so I really concentrated on attacking the fairway, and that worked well.

Hopefully it won't rain tomorrow, but it seems like it will a little bit. Hoping I can calmly get through the round with another solid play, so I'll do my best to prepare accordingly.